THE GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

The Third Annual Concert Crowned With Success—Mme. Amy Sherwin Crowned With Glory.

A large and fashionable audience gathered in the opera house last evening to listen to the programme prepared for the third annual concert of the Omaha glee club. The glee club have won a warm place in the hearts of the citizens of Omaha, but no more so than they deserve, and last night's performance added new laurels to their already well crowned brows. The active members of the glee club were all attired in full dress suits, with black ties, and each gentleman wore a small buttonhole bouquet.

As the curtain rose and they stepped forward for the first number, they presented a truly pretty appearance, and the selection was scarcely half finished when a whole bushel basketful of bouquets was carried forward and laid at their feet, transforming the stage into a veritable garden of roses. This, however, did not prevent them from finishing the selection in a grand manner, and their efforts elicited hearty applause.

The piano duet by Miss Dillrance and Mr. Cahm, on two pianos, was in every respect worthy of the hearty applause which it called forth at the close.

At the close of the piano duet there was a calm, as the star of the evening, Mme. Amy Sherwin, stepped upon the stage, when she was greeted with a round of applause. Her selection was "Come per Me, La Sonambula," by Bellini. Of Mme. Sherwin's singing naught can be said but praise. Her voice is superb, being a pure, clear soprano, and while the upper tones are taken with perfect ease and in an excellent manner, her middle and lower register is equally as pleasant. She has perfect control of her voice at all times, and her tones are all round and clear cut. She is not in the least affected in her singing, but is graceful and easy in her manner, and won the hearty sympathy of her audience. She sang without doubt, ingratiated herself with the music loving people in this city, and should she ever return, will be accorded a hearty reception. At the close of her selection, the applause was long and almost deafening, but was only rewarded by a graceful bow from the favorite.

"Vocal Waltz," which was then sung by the Glee Club, in a beautiful composition and was rendered in the characteristic good style of the club, after which an encore was responded to by that good old song "The Old Oak Bucket," with Mr. Northrup as soloist.

"Answers," by Mme. H. D. Estabrook was well executed and the lady received a hearty encore, to which she responded with another selection.

"On the Blue Danube," as sung by the male quartette, composed of Messrs. Northrup, Wilkins, Deuel and Estabrook, was excellent, but would probably have been more satisfactory to Mr. Northrup had his voice not been impaired by hoarseness.

Mme. Sherwin then sang "Der Holle Rache," by Mozart, in a most acceptable manner, at the close of which she was the recipient of three beautiful baskets of flowers and in acknowledgment of the hearty applause Mme. Sherwin favored her hearers with another selection.

The selection, "Hymn to Music," by the club was up to the standard in every particular.

This was followed by "Within a Mile of Edinboro Town," by Mme. Sherwin, and in response to an encore she sang "Coming Through the Rye."

The programme was closed by "Gathering Home," by the club, with Mr. Northrup in the solo part.

The entertainment was a success in every particular, and had the club received their just deserts at the hands of the public there would not have been any empty seat in the house.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

A New and yet an Old Business Opened in Omaha.

Mr. J. S. Richardson has Opened an Office in this City for the Introduction of Fay's Manilla Building Material.

Omaha people, particularly her business men, always stand ready with outstretched arms to welcome any one who comes within her borders to engage in legitimate business, of whatever branch, and are not in any way slow to understand and appreciate a good thing when it is brought before their notice.

The latest acquisition to Omaha's business circles comes in the person of Mr. J. S. Richardson, general State agent for Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa for Fay's Water-proof Manilla Building Material, for covering outside and lining inside of buildings. It is also made into Carpets and Rugs. Mr. Richardson comes from Emporia, Kansas, where he has been located for a year past. His object in coming to Omaha is the same which brings hundreds of business men to our city, attracted by the business outlook of the place, its excellent shipping facilities and its many great advantages as a business center, thus making it the best point for distributing purposes in the west.

The manilla building material which Mr. Richardson purports to introduce in this locality and state is new to this immediate section, but in the east, where it is manufactured, it has stood the most severe tests for seventeen years, during which time it has been in constant use, and has proven beyond the possibility of a doubt that it is to be the material for roofing, siding, ceiling, and even carpeting, in the future.

It takes the place of shingles, being water-proof, snow-proof, wind-proof and almost climate-proof. It is put on the same as a tin roof and when covered with a coat of paint, will wear—nobody knows how long, as some of it has been in constant use since its first introduction, seventeen years ago, and is, to all appearances, in as perfect a state of preservation as when first laid upon the roof.

For lining it is equally as good, and is used largely in the East, being entirely different from any other sheeting or lining, in that it requires no wood over it and will outwear wood. It is also used extensively for ceiling purposes. In fact a house can almost be constructed with Fay's Manilla Building Material alone and that too, at a cost of about two-thirds what wood costs for the same purposes. In a country like this, where our timber is fast disappearing, this is a grand thing and cannot fail to meet with the hearty reception to which it is justly entitled, and when presented to, at the hands of a gentleman like unto Mr. Richardson.

At his office, No. 321 South 12th street, where Mr. Richardson heartily invites every citizen of Omaha to call, he has a large line of samples of the water-proof manilla for roofing, siding, ceiling, and carpeting. It is made into rugs of all descriptions and sizes, carpets of all designs and widths. It is fast taking the place of oil-cloth, and while oil-cloth is manufactured from earth and is very cold and disagreeable to place the bare foot upon on a cold morning, the manilla rug is only as cold as the temperature of the room, therefore being much more pleasant, besides which it is far more durable. Carpets, with borders, are prepared for any size of room desired.

Mr. Richardson is simply introducing the material, and will place it in the hands of competent and reliable dealers, and the retail trade will be supplied for the purpose of introducing it.

As a man Mr. Richardson comes into our midst with the highest recommendations for uprightness, integrity, and fair dealing in all business transactions. He is a pleasant gentleman to meet, being agreeable, affable, and a gentleman who is exceedingly well posted on general topics.

"R. D. Thomas, of the firm of Thomas & Jones, grocers, has purchased of J. S. Richardson the nice suburban property fronting on Twelfth avenue; considering $2,800. Mr. Richardson will leave to-day for Omaha, which place he will make his future home, that city being, as he thinks, a better distributing point for his business. We are sorry to lose Mr. Richardson and his estimable family from the business and society circles of Emporia.

Miss Florence and Miss May will be missed by their young friends and schoolmates, who will regret that circumstances compel the separation. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will carry with them to their new home the high esteem of our entire community, and the best wishes of all who know them for their future happiness and prosperity."

Mr. Richardson desires to lease a house for eight or nine rooms with small barn or outhouse, in a desirable location, and in response to any one having such a property for rent will find a good tenant by calling upon or addressing him.

He has come to stay and his estimable lady and daughters will at once identify themselves with the social circles of Omaha, as will Mr. Richardson with its business interests.

TWO PLEASANT DANCES.

The Emmet Guards and the Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company.

Two very pleasant and successful dances were given last evening. One was by the Emmet Guards at Cunningham's hall on Thirteenth street and the other by the Pioneer hook and ladder company at Crouse's hall on Sixteenth street and Capitol avenue.

The affair given by the Pioneer firemen was their first annual complimentary ball and sociable. The large hall was crowded. The fire boys and their friends were on hand in great numbers. The programme was a lengthy one. In addition to the regular dancing there was a sociable, and those who couldn't dance were given a chance to talk. Between the dances brief addresses were delivered by prominent citizens. Some vocal music was also furnished. The U. P. brass band and Irvine's string band furnished the music for the dancers. A supper was given at the Fremont restaurant. The various committees did everything possible to make the evening an enjoyable one for those who attended.

There was a large attendance at the Emmet Guards' ball. The hall was decorated with Irish and American flags and banners. A large portrait of Robert Emmet, after whom the organization is named, and a likeness of Farnell were hanging conspicuously upon the walls. The evening's programme was a lengthy one. There were over 100 couples in attendance, which is quite encouraging to the Guards, for the opening of the season. The music was furnished by Irving's orchestra band.

A HOTEL RAIDED.

Thieves Visit Peter Gooch's Hotel Yesterday—A Small Amount of Money Obtained.

At an early hour yesterday a thief entered the Gooch hotel, on Farnam street, between 16th and 16th streets, and making a tour of several of the rooms succeeded in getting hold of $10 or $12.

The outside hall door is left unfastened all night and it was through this way that the thief entered. A number of the boarders are in the habit of leaving their room doors unlocked, and this morning one of them was awakened and somewhat surprised to find a man in his room, but thinking that it was one of the other boys, and that by accident he had strolled in there he said nothing. One of the boarders this morning found his pants in the hall minus $10 or $12 which he had left in the pockets last night. This was the extent of the property taken, and after rummaging around a while the visitor took his departure. No clue has been obtained to the thief.

THE GERMAN THEATRE.

Mrs. Kraft Frey Appeared as "Deborah" Sunday Night and Made a Decided Hit.

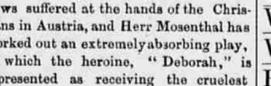

The German theatre in this city was thronged on Sunday evening last by our German friends to witness Mrs. Kraft Frey in "Deborah" in Mosenthal's melodrama. There were quite a number of Hebrews present and they were deeply interested in the play to the close. The story turns upon the persecution the Jews suffered at the hands of the Christians in Austria, and Herr Mosenthal has worked out an extremely absorbing play, in which the heroine, "Deborah," is represented as receiving the cruellest treatment at the hands of the so-called Christians. "Deborah" is loved by "Joseph (Herr Melchin), and this amour is the cause of the racket "Joseph" wants to buy "Deborah's" consent to leave the country, and with that object in view he sends the schoolmaster [Herr Baureis] on the mission. The schoolmaster finds a woman at the hut of the Jews who takes the purse and promises to go to Bohemia to persuade "Deborah" to go with her. There is some deception played here, and "Joseph" is given to understand that "Deborah" has played him false.

After considering this for a few moments "Joseph" decides to marry "Hannah" (Mme. Puls-Ah) which he accordingly does. But as the Priest (Herr Puls) is about to tie the indissoluble knot which will make the interesting pair of one flesh, in jumps "Deborah," and in a tragic voice exclaims, "I forbid the bans." Considerable uproar ensues, and the marriage ceremony is indefinitely postponed.

After many years "Deborah" comes to the conclusion that she can no longer live in the same village with the fickle affianced, and she determines to emigrate to America, and at the latest accounts was keeping a millinery store in Omaha, where she is passing a somewhat checkered career in comparative peace. She often thinks of the little village in Styria. But this does not prevent her from executing all orders entrusted to her with promptitude and dispatch.

The parts were all well sustained throughout, and elicited hearty applause. Mrs. Frey was several times called before the curtain, and Herr Baureis received quite an ovation. The German theatre was never in so prosperous a condition as it is to-day, and the success is due largely to the untiring efforts of Mr. Baureis. The Musical Union orchestra furnished the music on Sunday night, which was good.
